Alison Percy

Alison Percy is an Australian artist living close to the Murray River in the NSW/Victorian border town of Albury. Her energetic and passionate nature reflects across her landscape, figurative and floral works. Captivated by mark making and fluid line she creates paintings and drawings for exhibition, private sale and commission.

A visual artist with a background in graphic design, interior design and calligraphy, Alison's eye for detail and heartfelt connections to nature sees her now focus solely on her painting and drawing practice, seduced by the beauty she finds in the places and spaces she lives.

Alison's beautiful layered works have captured us, especially the gentle landscape works with their watery, illuminated colours, the bush felt as if through sunlit and half-closed eyes. Her whimsical snow gums and mountain ash sinews whisper to us 'keep looking' while her densely rendered bushland scenes hide the mysterious secrets and nurturing stories of lost trails and leaf strewn pathways.

Alison's iridescent palette bathes our soul in silvery greys, gumnut greens and cloudy pinks that reflect back at us the misty tales and scents of Australian bush life, weathered and deeply felt.
